

SGW Global Privacy Policy

This Privacy Policy sets out clearly, our commitment to being transparent about what personal data we may request you to provide to us, why do we request this information from you and how we collect, use and protect it.

Should we ask you to provide certain information by which you can be identified, then you can be assured that it will be only used in accordance with this Privacy Statement.

In order to show you that SGW Global is always compliant with the latest data protection regulations, this Policy may be updated on this webpage from time to time. Therefore, we encourage you to periodically review SGW Global webpage, to ensure you remain informed and happy about how we are helping to process and protect the personal information you provide to us.

This Policy is effective from 25/05/2018.

Why and how we may request your information

It is the Policy of SGW Global to allow visitors to the website to view its content unhindered and unrestricted. To this end we do not require registration nor do we request any private information from you, unless if it is by handling a direct information request on our Contact us webpage. If you do so, the only information requested from you will be your name, e-mail, enquiry and to tick the box in case you give us consent to send you by e-mail reminders and notifications about the content on our website exclusively.

Controlling your personal information

If you do not tick the box to give us your consent to send you by e-mail reminders and notifications about the content on our website exclusively, your personal information will be only used to answer your enquiry and deleted afterwards.

If you tick the box to give us your consent to send you by e-mail reminders and notifications about the content on our website exclusively, your information will be only used for this purpose and will be not sold, distributed or leased to third parties, unless we have your permission by e-mail or are required by law to do so.

You may change your mind at any time by sending us a message using the Contact us form on our webpage, to inform that you no longer want SGW Global to send you reminders and notifications about the content on our website. If you do so, your information will be deleted from our database and no more e-mails from our Company will be sent to you.

You may request details of personal information which we hold about you. If you would like a copy of this information, please request it by sending a message on the Contact us form on SGW Global webpage. Our team will reach you to provide the information by e-mail.

If you believe that any information we are holding on you is incorrect or incomplete, please email us as soon as it possible. We will promptly correct any information found to be incorrect.

Security

We are committed to ensuring that your information is secure. In order to prevent unauthorised access or disclosure, we have put in place suitable physical, electronic and managerial procedures to safeguard and secure the information we collect online.

SGW Global welcomes input on potential software vulnerabilities so that we can take appropriate steps to maintain the security of our products and systems. Information on how to report security questions, issues or possible incidents to the SGW Global Product Security Team can be found here.

Our website utilises google analytics which allows us to track and monitor usage within the website and this data allows us to enhance and understand our visitors' experience whilst visiting – to do this google may place a cookie/token on your computer. These cookies/tokens are not unique to us as they are present within the majority of the world's websites and we are confident that utilising these solutions allow us to offer visitors an enhanced website experience.

How we use cookies

A cookie is a small file which asks permission to be placed on your computer's hard drive. Once you agree, the file is added and the cookie helps analyse web traffic or lets you know when you visit a particular site. Cookies allow web applications to respond to you as an individual. The web application can tailor its operations to your needs, likes and dislikes by gathering and remembering information about your preferences.

We use traffic log cookies to identify which pages are being used. This helps us analyse data about web page traffic and improve our website in order to tailor it to customer needs. We only use this information for statistical analysis purposes and then the data is removed from the system.

Overall, cookies help us provide you with a better website, by enabling us to monitor which pages you find useful and which you do not. A cookie in no way gives us access to your computer or any information about you, other than the data you choose to share with us.

You can choose to accept or decline cookies. Most web browsers automatically accept cookies, but you can usually modify your browser setting to decline cookies if you prefer. This may prevent you from taking full advantage of the website. If you would like to find out more about cookies and how they affect you, please visit this website <http://www.allaboutcookies.org>

Links to other websites

Our website may contain links to other websites of interest. However, once you have used these links to leave our site, you should note that we do not have any control over that other website. Therefore, we cannot be responsible for the protection and privacy of any information which you provide whilst visiting such sites and such sites are not governed by this privacy statement. You should exercise caution and look at the privacy statement applicable to the website in question.